The Suspension of Secretary Stanton. The President yesterday "suspended" Mr. Stanton from the office of Secretary of War...

Collector James Steedman, it is said, is to be Mr. Stanton's successor during the interim. Nothing could better show the character and animus of the President than the contrast such an appointment would exhibit.

The course of the President is daily demonstrating the correctness of the judgment entertained of him by the radical wing of the Republican party. They doubted that he would honestly carry out the Reconstruction law...

Yet with this sworn testimony before them, and with their official oaths to bind them, and with a solemn promise that they would act only on the evidence submitted, and without fear or favor, the Grand Jury ignored the bill!

A False Charge. The New York Herald, which alternately blows hot and cold—one day radical and the next day conservative—emphasizes its latest summons by a very weak and unjust attack upon our Southern citizens of African descent...

Tours and Tourists. The arrival of autumn will bring with it the return of many of the throng of tourists who have fled across the ocean to "do" Europe and see the Exposition.

The entire spirit of the Herald's charge is false. During our whole struggle the negro was always ready to do just as much as we would allow him to do.

thing. Had we encouraged him to a servile insurrection, he could have made the South a second St. Domingo. But our Government was too humane to call down upon the Rebels a catastrophe like that, and the negro was too wise to inaugurate it without our sanction.

It is amusing to notice the change in style and argument which the Herald undergoes as it changes sides. When it takes the Republican side its arguments are sound, fair, logical, and powerful, while its style is robust, trenchant, and elevated.

The Immaculate Jury System Again. On Saturday morning the Grand Jury ignored the bills against Alderman William McMullin, on the charge of assault and battery.

On Saturday afternoon that immaculate body of disinterested citizens, sworn to deal justly, and act in accordance with the evidence, met out the same fate to the bill against that officer for riot and inciting to riot.

On Monday morning the Grand Jury ignored the bills against Alderman William McMullin, on the charge of assault and battery.

within one hundred miles of Philadelphia, in our own State, are views as beautiful as any to be found in the routes pursued by half the foreign tourists. The glories of Pennsylvania do not spread themselves before us until we penetrate and see them.

The New Cherokee Chief.—We are glad to notice the election of Lewis Downing as chief of the Cherokees. Mr. Downing was one of the loyal men of that tribe, and served during the war as lieutenant-colonel of a regiment of loyal Indians, commanded by Colonel William A. Phillips, of Kansas.

The Guerilla Quaintrel.—The Lawrence (Kansas) State Journal says:—"Andy Hammond, an old resident of this city, and lately Military Marshal in Texas, has returned. He gives a rather gloomy account of matters in Texas. He gives the most definite and accurate accounts of the whereabouts of Quaintrel that we have yet heard.

The James River and Kanawha Canal.—The James River and Kanawha Canal Company is to be brought before the United States Bankruptcy Court. The corporation is owned by a number of Frenchmen, among whom rumor places Napoleon III.

The Cholera in Nicaragua.—The Gazette of Nicaragua of the 29th of June reports that the cholera has broken out in Leon, and is committing dreadful ravages. As many as forty deaths a day occur. The disease had assumed an epidemic form, and showed no indication of decreasing.

The Yellow Fever in New Orleans.—On account of the apprehensions of yellow fever becoming an epidemic at New Orleans, it has been ordered from General Grant's headquarters that officers on duty in Louisiana and Texas, but who are now absent from their posts on leave, may upon application to the Adjutant-General of the army, have their leave extended until the 15th of October.

WASHINGTON GOSSIP.

The Attempt to Damage the Reputation of the Chief Justice.

There is a good deal of feeling here among members of all parties, regarding the recent assault made upon Mr. Chase. It is understood that there is a combination, headed by the infamous Thurlow Weed, for the purpose of destroying the Chief Justice as a possible candidate for the Presidency.

I have reason to think that the next step, now that Stanton has been removed, will be the removal of Sheridan, and probably the other four Military Commanders. I am Mr. Johnson's desire to place more conservative men in authority over the conquered Southern States.

A DIVER RICHLY REWARDED.

A Lucky Dive—Immense Treasure Found—A Safe that has been under Water over Thirty Years Brought to the Surface—$10,000 in Gold Recovered—A Poor Fisherman Enriched.

From the Nashville Gazette, Va. Most of our readers are familiar with the fact that a party of divers in this city devoted this season of the year, when the water is at its lowest stage, to diving in the Cumberland.

But in order to do justice to the lucky haul we are about to describe, let us go back to the good old time when the water was at its lowest, and when such men as Brown and Jones were regarded as small potatoes. It was a winter's day in the year 1836, when the puffing of a steamboat had heard several miles below the city, and the loud and distinct scraping bottomed that she was a double engine craft, and belonged in the trade between New Orleans and this point.

The strong current of air fanning the flames caused the boat to burn rapidly. Small boats were thrown on board, and the passengers sent to shore, while the crew were busily engaged in throwing overboard freight. Such a scene, in fact, we have never witnessed since.

Let us now return to the scenes of yesterday. Three well-known fishermen and expert divers were engaged in exploring the undiscovered country below the surface of the Cumberland.

The council of war was held, and it was determined to rescue the safe at all hazards. Crowbars were procured, several canoes and yaws were anchored out at the place, and the divers again proceeded to their work.

The Washington correspondent of the Worcester (Mass.) Spy, under date of 9th instant, writes:—"General Butler's offer of amnesty has accomplished something of what was intended. I learn that a Canadian arrived here a short time since, and made, under that condition, most important disclosures in regard to the rebel army."
